Mr. Noble of the income tax department was a business visitor in town today (Thursday).

Roy Gardner, of Marquis, Sask., was a visitor with his parents at Delisle from Saturday evening to Monday forenoon.

The United Church W.M.S. will meet in the church on Thursday, September 13, at 8:00 p.m. Text word, "a favorite text."

Born, at St. Paul's Hospital, Saskatoon, on Monday, September 3rd, to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shannon, of Delisle district, a daughter.

Mrs. Robt Harvey was admitted to Saskatoon City Hospital last Saturday suffering with sciatica. Her many friends are hoping for her speedy and complete recovery.

The first pre-fabricated aluminum houses have appeared in Bristol, England. These houses took three-and-a-half hours to erect and during that time, water, gas and electricity were laid on. "We took rather a long time," remarked the foreman. "With a little experience we shall be able to put them up more quickly."

come a resident of Delisle and is having his house moved in from the farm. It will be located just north of Morris Miller's residence. Others moving houses to town are Mrs. C. Bend and J. R. Campbell, while James Busby intends building a town residence shortly.

Miss Etta Williams of Moose Jaw spent the week-end with friends in town, returning home on Monday.

Town Clerk S. J. Colley was called to Edmonton on Tuesday of this week owing to the death of his uncle.

The Co-Op. Service Station, formerly the O'Neill Service Station, will be open for business in the very near future.

Harvest operations are going along nicely with most of the local farmers, the weed manure being the only drawback in many cases. Yields, however, are disappointing, the wheat going only from three or four to seven or eight bushels per acre with the odd piece going slightly higher. It is doubtful if the average yield will exceed five bushels per acre. Some farmers will finish harvesting operations this week.

The Advocate regrets having referred to Flt. Lieut. H. McMillan as F. O. in the last issue. Another error which crept in was that we referred to Mrs. Clement as (nee Margaret McFee) and the item should have read "(nee Mary McFee", Margaret being still on the eligible list. We tender our apologies to the parties concerned.

Ottawa, August 31—Canada's Ninth Victory Loan will open on October 22nd and will be the biggest ever floated in this country, the Hon. J.L. Halsey announced today. The loan will cover Canada's borrowing needs for the next twelve months, the Minister of Finance explained, making it unnecessary to have another campaign next spring.

"One large loan now instead of two smaller loans, one now and another in the spring of 1946, means a real saving of time, effort and expense," he said. "It is possible to aim for a full year's needs in one loan because Canada's borrowing requirements over the next twelve months will not be as large as they have been in recent years."

"Victory has been won in Europe and the Pacific. The end of hostilities means the end of many war costs. But, we now face new tasks. And, these new tasks bring new needs. So, total outlays and borrowing requirements will continue at high levels."

"For instance, men in hundreds of thousands must be brought back to their homeland from overseas. This will take time because of shipping shortages and continuing operations in occupied areas. Meanwhile, they must be paid, fed, housed and cared for in a hundred-and-one different ways. This all costs money—large amounts of it."

"Then, the wounded and the sick must be restored to health. Veterans will be given a good start in civilian life. Many will be trained for new jobs. War service gratuities and re-establishment credits will be paid. These and other rehabilitation outlays involve hundreds of millions of dollars.

"People in war-torn countries need food, clothing, medical and other supplies to relieve suffering and distress. The United Nations, including Canada, are making gifts of essential supplies to these peoples. Canada is also lending money to countries in war areas to help them buy supplies in Canada urgently needed to overcome the losses and devastation of war. The money Canada will spend and lend in these ways is an investment in the future peace and prosperity of the world."

"Then, there are outlays of various kinds to clean up the war program, and to start us on our way towards normal peacetime living."

"These tasks, and these needs, are reasons why Canada's borrowing requirements for the next year will remain at a high level even though direct war costs have declined with victory in Europe and in the Pacific. They are reasons why Canadians are being asked to continue their present savings program for another year."

"Plans to win the peace—plans for high employment and prosperity in the days to come—are now being laid. Continued saving over the next year will help these plans succeed."

"War production has to come to an end. Production for civilian use is on the way up. But, the supply of new things to buy at current prices is still very much less than the amount of spendable money in the hands of Canadians. As long as this condition remains, there will be upward pressure on prices—pressure which could lead to inflation, then to mass unemployment, misery and hardship."

"Spending increases this pressure. Saving reduces it. So continued saving, by the purchase of 9th Victory Loan Bonds, helps to keep the cost of living under control, and to maintain the buying power of our money. By helping to maintain stability, it will help us to win the peace."

"The minimum objectives for the new loan are the largest in Victory Loan history. They reflect the two loans in one feature of the 9th Victory Loan, the continued need for saving, and the new level of borrowing requirements."

"As individuals, Canadians know the value of Victory Bonds—the value of a reserve of savings to meet future needs and wants. With twelve months to pay for the 9th Loan Bonds, many Canadians will buy double the amount of their purchases in earlier loans, and most others will buy more than before."

"The 9th Victory Loan will be Canada's greatest Victory Loan."

TO AID FARMERS IN POOR CROP AREAS

A program of public works, to aid farmers in crop failure areas of Saskatchewan, has been inaugurated by the provincial government, it has been announced by Municipal Affairs Minister J. Brockelbank.

Aid additional to that provided under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act was necessary in poor crop districts, said Mr. Brockelbank. There was a considerable area where the present crop failure followed by one or two years of poor crop or crop failure years, he explained.

A COMING COAL SHORTAGE

There will almost certainly be a serious shortage of coal on this whole continent next winter. Farmers are strongly urged to purchase their winter needs of coal now while some supplies are available.

Many Home Agents can help farmers to fill their needs.

5,500 NEW MEMBERS in 1944-45

Each year sees thousands of new members joining Saskatchewan Co-operative Producers Limited. More and more Saskatchewan farmers recognize that it is in their interests, as well as in the interests of the whole agricultural community, that they should lend their support to this co-operative farmers' organization. Through it, they can take an active part in supplying themselves with a low-cost marketing service and at the same time help assure farmers of a secure and prosperous future.

"Here comes our cheque Mummy!"

All over Canada, in cities, towns, villages and on farms, hundreds of thousands of men and women watch for the postman to bring dependents' allowance cheques as other people look for pay-day. They are people of all ages whose breadwinners are away on active service. They include returned men not yet back in civil life.

And soon there will be hundreds of thousands more back from the war. They will receive cheques to help them buy civilian clothes, to go to college, to get technical or vocational training, to start in business for themselves, or to set up as farmers or fishermen.

The banks have to be prepared to cash all official cheques for these and a dozen other purposes—and to do so anywhere in Canada without charge. In fact, the banks supply Canada with the nationwide machinery to facilitate a grateful country's plans for restoring service men and women to civilian life.

This is a tremendous task. It will entail a vast amount of bookkeeping. But you can be sure that your banks will take it in their stride without impairing regular banking service.

With other groups, you play a part so that everyone gets a fair share

The FARMER

Under the rationing regulations, you are asked to collect and turn in the coupons you acquire against the use and sale of butter and, when meat rationing is introduced again, of meat; and the coupons you get from the sale of honey and rationed maple products. So that you may buy other meats from your butcher, no more than one-half of the valid coupons in your ration book and in those of your household need be surrendered. To make it easy to send in coupons, you are provided with RB-61 envelopes which should be forwarded once a month to your Local Ration Board. No postage is required.

The RETAILER

The retailer also plays a part. He must obtain coupons or other valid ration documents against every sale he makes of rationed foods—butter, sugar, preserves and, when meat rationing becomes effective again, meat. Otherwise, he cannot replenish his stocks. He must paste all coupons on gummed sheets and endorse each sheet with his name and address. If his monthly food sales total $2,500 or more, he is required to operate a ration coupon bank account. He must also give valid ration documents or a ration cheque to his supplier for every purchase he makes of a rationed food.

The HOUSEWIFE

The housewife, too, has rationing work to do. She must know the validity and expiry dates of butter, sugar, preserves and, later, meat coupons so that she can make supplies of these foods last. She must know the coupon values of all rationed preserves and meats. She has to understand the sugar alternative of the preserves coupon in order to do as much home canning as possible and still have coupons for honey, syrups and other preserves. She must guard family ration books carefully and give up coupons for every purchase she makes of a rationed food.

RATIONING is your assurance of a fair share. It is a protection against waste . . . shortage . . . inflation.

That is why farmers are asked to continue to collect and turn in coupons to their Local Ration Boards - once a month - in the RB-61 envelope.

Their Contribution To Victory

When it is possible to write the full story of the war work done in the past six years by the men and women of the Canadian farms, it will be a heroic saga of self-sacrifice, ceaseless labor, victory over difficulties in the shortage of help and machinery, and the never-ending fight against the elements. Peace hath her victories no less renowned than war. The farm folk of Canada, like farm folk everywhere, are fundamentally people of peace. Paradoxically without them war could not be waged, so it is appropriate to pause and give due measure of appreciation to the people who made an immeasurable contribution to victory.

In other countries, unintentional forgetfulness of what farm men and women have achieved in war time is an old story, although that story is not likely to be repeated in Canada. About 1,600 years ago, the Visigoth farmers settled by Theodosius south of the Danube were forgotten and left to their own resources under harsh conditions. Yet much was expected of them in the way of supplying food. So they started the first major farm strike on record and were stopped from occupying Rome only on the payment of a large farm loan, then spoken of as ransom.

Again in the world the time has come "when they shall beat their swords into ploughshares and their spears into pruning hooks." After every war, the ploughshares and pruninghooks are sorely needed. On the de-laration of peace, the Canadian farmer, with his outworn machinery, looks forward to the time of full supply which includes a long list of necessary implements. Throughout the war, the farm men and women of Canada met with courage and uncomplaining endurance the many demands made upon them even when it would appear that the impossible was being asked.

Agriculture has placed Canada in the vanguard of nations. Now an opportunity presents itself for the Nation to place farm folk in the forefront under conditions and surroundings worthy of the victories and peace.

How to Holiday at Home and like it

Home can be a mighty fine place to spend those summer holidays. Just pull up a chair in the garden with your favorite book and relax. Or for our more energetic brethren an afternoon or two spent tending the Victory Garden is a "sure fire" treatment to clear away those mental cobwebs.

And at the same time you'll be serving room on the trains for our repatriated and wounded service-men. They've had a long journey and will appreciate your consideration.

Mr. Howard Aitken spent the week-end at his home here after teaching the past month at his former school in Keatby.

Miss Joy Ryan left this week for Sovereign to continue her teaching duties at that point.

Mrs. W. E. Bell is visiting during the week at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. Shaw of Langham.

Miss M. Nymoen, of Saskatoon, made a short visit over the holiday with Mrs. C. P. Hansen.

Mrs. Norman French sustained injury to her left leg last Saturday and was taken to Saskatoon for X-rays and treatment. It was found a ligament was broken and her leg is now in a cast. She is recovering nicely at her home.

Don. Adams, in a fall from a ladder, suffered severe bruises to a leg but, after first aid, is getting along well, and we hope he will soon be as well as ever.

President Vaughan Addresses Message to Canadians

Montreal, Sept. 3.—In a message addressed to the Canadian public, Mr. C. R. Vaughan, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, has expressed the system's thanks for the co-operation given it during the war by the millions of train and steamship passengers, shippers of freight and express, hotel guests, and patrons of the telegraph and other services. The Canadian National ability to fulfill its gigantic war duty "to the credit and satisfaction of the nation", he said, "is due not only to the skill, devotion and zeal of those who are workers, but in large measure also to the Canadian public who, by their generous responses to appeals for help and their uncomplaining acceptance of restrictions and controls, lightened our burden." He made particular mention of "the unnumbered citizens who refrained from travelling needlessly as their contribution to the common cause."

From the outbreak of war in September, 1939, to V-J day, Canadian National passenger train miles amounted to more than 138 million, according to the Bureau of Statistics. Passenger car miles totalled more than one billion, 217 million. It is estimated that more than 153 million passengers were carried; up to the end of last year, more than four million troops had been transported in 6,540 special trains. The movement of troops returning home from overseas is still continuing and figures are not yet available concerning its size, but two thirds of all troop trains required for these movements are being provided by the Canadian National. Special workmen's trains, operated to and from war plants, carried over 41 million passengers. Nearly 26 million meals were served to military and civilian passengers on Canadian National diners during the war period.

The Canadian National hauled more than 491 million tons of freight during the war. Freight train miles aggregated more than 246 million; freight car miles, nearly 11 billion; net ton miles, more than 196 billion.

Vessels owned and operated by the Canadian National Steamships travelled four and a half million miles in war service and a number were victims of enemy action. Three were converted into fighting naval units and one, "The Lady Nelson", was Canada's first hospital ship.

Hotels, express and telegraphs departments all contributed to the nation's war effort. Trans-Canada Air Lines flew some 45 million miles, carrying more than 600,000 passengers, approximately 14 million pounds of mail and 2½ million pounds of express. The railway's drydock and shipyard at Prince Rupert built minesweepers and freighters. National Railways Munitions Limited at Montreal constructed naval guns and carriages and other war equipment. Officers and staffs in the Canadian National's architect's department, the real estate, law and development departments and others gave technical assistance to the government. In co-operation with the R.C.A.M.C., the architect's department designed special hospital cars which were constructed by the car equipment department and shops of the company. Officers of the system organized wartime censorship and public information in 1939 and 1940. Nearly 25,000 men and women enlisted in the armed forces, in the Merchant Navy or were on special war duty with the government. Many of them won decorations for gallantry and distinguished service.

"The surrender of the last enemy had ended the fighting, but it has not ended the war job of the Canadian National Railways," concluded Mr. Vaughan's message to the people of Canada. "The men and women in the services have to be brought home without delay and for that purpose we shall continue to employ all our passenger equipment. Millions of tons of materials must be transported for industrial reconversion. In carrying out these and other extensions of our war job, we hope we may continue to enjoy the understanding of the Canadian public."

There will be one nation-wide clothing collection for allied war relief conducted in Canada this year.

Playing safe with TEXTILES

The supply of textiles is not adequate to the demand.

For six years, most of the world output has gone to war.

Victory has not improved the situation.

There will not be enough textiles in Canada for many months to come.

HERE ARE SOME OF THE REASONS

Canada depends largely on other sources for raw materials and for some yarns and fabrics.

A serious manpower shortage still confronts the textile industry of all Allied countries.

Shortages overseas must be met. It will take months before production is resumed in Europe.

Substantial quantities of all kinds of textiles are still required by occupational forces.

Domestic demand for textiles increased sharply during the war. It is still going up.

Civilian clothing needs of returning servicemen and women are swelling the demand here at home.

CONSERVATION IS THE KEYNOTE

This year, production directives have again been issued to the textiles industry.

They are intended to divert output to more essential goods.

But directives alone cannot cure a situation arising from world conditions.

The answer lies in conservation. More than ever, the need is to conserve, to take care of what there is, to mend, make-over and make-do.
